BUSINESS FIRMS.Whose Enterprise and Energy Make Las Vegas the Metropolitan of the Southwest.

Bridges Again—Davis Bound Over—A False Charge—And Other Gleanings Garnered From the Fields of Local Life.

There are merchants in Las Vegas who for business enterprise would be valuable acquisitions to any city. They carry large stocks of goods, are alive to the demands of the trade, and have at heart every enterprise looking to the growth and development of our city.

C. H. SPORLEDER, the Center street boot and shoe man is of this number. A visit to his rooms will find him surrounded by ease upon case of foot wear of the latest designs, most artistic finish and desirable material. From the tiny shoe for the baby, which a man can scarcely put upon his thumb, to the hip boots of the stockman, everything can be found. But it is in the ladies department that the most bewildering variety of styles presents itself. One who cannot find at Sporleder's something to suit his taste, need not look anywhere else.N. L. ROSENTHAL & SONS are another firm which comes under the designation of our captior. Having their store on Railroad avenue, and carrying a large stock of general supplies, they have an immense trade from the country as well as the city. They buy directly from the eastern market, one of the firm making his regular trips to New York, where he makes his selections. That they know the wants of their customers, and display taste and skill in providing for them, is evidenced from the busy scene which their store always presents.S. L. LEON & CO.,
the Plaza bakers and grocers, fall not behind in the enumeration. Their effort to cater to the physical needs of their customers by supplying the best of everything that the market affords, is a matter well known in the community and highly appreciated by the constantly widening circle of their customers. Their public spirit is shown by their casting over foreign brands of flour and devoting themselves to the handling of that which is made here in our own city.J. S. EISTON, painter and general decorator of houses, must be added to our list. The work he has done in Las Vegas is truly artistic and cannot be surpassed anywhere. Many of our offices and private houses, under his skillful execution of the designs his taste has conceived, have been made real studios of art, things of beauty, which will be joys as long as they endure.REAL ESTATE MEN have done a great deal for the town. Such men as A. A. & J. H. Wise, Calvin Fisk and J. J. Fitzgerald are a blessing to any community. Through their labors the country has been advertised, and people and money have been brought in to add to our growth both materially and financially. They have done more to develop our resources and make them known abroad than all other agencies combined. They are wide-awake, energetic and reliable.THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK, though not a firm, is so eminently one of the leading institutions of Las Vegas that the present list would be incomplete without its mention. Not alone is it entitled to this distinction by its handsome buildings and the fact that it is the depository of the Santa Fe road as well as of four-fifths of the business people of the country, but what gives it the larger claim is that its name may be found among the supporters of every enterprise for the good of the city. Never a deed of charity or a public improvement appeals to the management of this bank in vain.THE COMMISSION HOUSES are the especial pride of our people. Lying full length along the railroad track, each extending the entire distance of a square, they first attract the attention of the traveler and give him some idea of Las Vegas' commercial importance. But it is not till he has gone through the immense storerooms, and looked at the goods piled up to the ceiling; till he has seen the complete assortment of everything, from a toothpick to a steam engine, and the vast quantities of each article, that the true magnitude of their business begins to dawn upon his mind. Then, when he has seen the car loads upon car loads, which these houses ship over the railroad, and the almost innumerable freighters who draw up alongside their platforms, discharging cargoes or loading for all the towns in a radius of hundreds of miles—when he has seen these, he will have a more enlarged view of the volume of business done by Gross, Blackwell & Co., and by the Browne & Manzaneros Co., the merchant prince firms of Las Vegas.W. H. SHUPP, the Bridge street dealer in vehicles and farm implements, comes well to the front in company of enterprising firms. His establishment is a large one; and both in the work which he manufactures and in that which he handles for eastern makers, he shows an acquaintance with his own line of business which cannot fail of success, when combined with the energy and close attention which he gives to his affairs. His business is destined to grow with the development of the country and to become one of the great leading industries of New Mexico.

The management of THE GAZETTE is responsible for what appears in its columns, and nothing is printed there which they do not approve. The charge that the notices of a school exhibition on the east side, was prompted by motives "inspired by spite and jealousy," could have arisen only in the maudlin and befuddled brain of the man who wrote it. The one for whom it was intended has been a resident of this town for two years and he thinks he is too well known for his motives to be impugned by any such charges as that from which this charge emanated.

Pianos and organs sold by Marcelino & Mernin at eastern prices with freight added. Patronize home institutions. The way to paralyze a town is to buy what you may need in the east when you can duplicate articles and prices at local stores. Marcelino & Mernin.

Localities.
Geof. McCrohan is looked for today. This morning's will be the last GAZETTE for the present.
Romulo Martinez has been confirmed as United States marshal for the territory of New Mexico.ST. PAUL'S CHAPEL—Worship at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m., with sermons on The Ascension, by Dr. Cross.

Frank Carpenter and wife, of Liberty, are in the city, and Pete Fixly is expected in this afternoon.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH—Memorial service at the First Baptist church today at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 8 p. m. A special invitation is extended to all. Good music is provided for. Seats free.

Congress will investigate the order of Commissioner Sparks, by which he prohibited the taking up of land under the homestead and timber culture acts. Mr. Sparks will doubtless find himself in hot water.

Rev. George Needham arrived from the east last night. After the adjournment of the general conference at Richmond, Va., he visited Norfolk, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, leaving the latter place Tuesday evening.

A meeting of the Las Vegas Public Library association will be held at the office of J. J. Fitzgerald, Monday, the 7th, at 8 p. m. All citizens are cordially invited to attend, for the purpose of considering matters of much importance to the citizens, and the welfare of the city.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Religious services of the Congregational church at the hall, Wyman's block, today at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Subject of sermon in the morning, The Fatherhood of God, in the evening, Lecture on Strikes, Boycotts and Lockouts, Rev. W. B. Sumner will preach. All are very cordially invited.

Chas. W. Rood, a lawyer from Denver, happening to be in our city, undertook the gratuitous defence of young Davis, yesterday, before Judge Steele's court. Mr. Rood made quite a reputation for himself by his noble defense of the unfortunate young man. His calm and dignified manner was in contrast with the vituperative effort of the prosecution. Davis, in default of $1,000 bail, was committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Bridges Once More.
It is said that the county commissioners have appointed a board of three to inspect the bridges after their completion. Again THE GAZETTE demands in the name of the taxpayers, that the inspection be done while the bridges are building. After the bridges have been completed, what good will inspection do? Can anyone tell by looking at a finished bridge, if the piers and abutments go down to the bed rock? Suppose they find the work has not been well done, and refuse to receive the structures, will it not throw us out of the bridges for months? We want good bridges, and want them as soon as possible. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. It will be much easier to see that the bridges are built right than to have them made good if once they are built improperly. Any one can see that this is a plain proposition. Let us have the names of the three inspectors; and if they are competent men, the commissioners should make it their duty to inspect the bridges as they are building.The Latest Styles of
